The Baltimore District environmental services encompass a variety of compliance, pollution prevention, and conservation investigations. We can assist military installations, as well as other Federal, state, and local agencies prepare environmental analyses, comply with environmental requirements, conserve natural resources, and implement pollution prevention measures.

Environmental analysis may consider possible environmental impacts of operations and activities on an installation or facility. We can assist with the establishment of goals, the identification and investigation of problems and opportunities, and evaluation and selection of the best alternatives.

Additionally, almost every action occurring at a facility is subject to some degree of environmental compliance. The Baltimore District is available to assist with environmental compliance requirements, such as the National Environmental Policy Act.

Our environmental team brings a unique combination of experience and capability to support your needs. A comprehensive range of services from support of ecosystem management and restoration planning, to design and construction are available.

Our team works with our customers to preserve and restore natural resources in addition to helping you comply with environmental regulations within the constraints of time and budget.
